Product Governance and Value Assessment Group Stakeholder Pension (TargetPlan) – March 2023

Product governance

We have a detailed proposition development policy to provide a framework for the development, approval and lifecycle management of propositions manufactured by Aegon UK. We do this to ensure they are designed to meet the needs, characteristics, and objectives of a target group of customers and are distributed accordingly. The Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) expects firms to identify any aspects of the design of a product or service that could lead to foreseeable harm or prevent customers pursuing their financial objectives. Under the Consumer Duty, Aegon UK will need to continue to demonstrate how the design of a product or service meets the cross-cutting rules and take appropriate action to avoid harm.

Outcome of value assessment – March 2023

The purpose of the value assessment is so distributors can understand the products or services they distribute, enabling them to carry out their own value assessment. The FCA requires firms that operate contract-based workplace pension schemes to use the Independent Governance Committee (IGC) Value for Money assessment, when doing their own value assessment. The latest IGC report was for the year 2021, published in 2022, and this was refreshed for this value assessment with the most up-to-date value for money reporting to the IGC.

You can see the IGC report here: IGC Full Report 2022.

What did the fair value assessment consider?	Pension providers offering a workplace pension scheme must establish an IGC to oversee the scheme governance and produce an annual Value for Money report. The Consumer Duty rules require pension providers to use the IGC's report when carrying out their value assessment for a contract-based workplace scheme. The IGC summarised its view for the key Value for Money principles across all Aegon workplace customers as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Charges • Investment Solutions • Customer Service • Communication and Engagement with customers • Security of customer information and money. Alongside the IGCs conclusions, we have reviewed any recent developments since the report was written, particularly in the areas highlighted in the IGC report and any potential concerns identified under the Consumer Duty four outcomes of products & services, price & value, consumer understanding and consumer support. The IGC judges the value for money delivered to customers by workplace pension providers in the context of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The level of charges and costs • Investment performance • The quality of services. Aegon, along with all the main providers of workplace pension schemes, took part in a benchmarking exercise in 2022 run by the independent investment consultancy Redington. This allowed the IGC to see how Aegon is performing against its peers in key areas of value for money. The IGC considered the findings of the Redington report when coming to its final value for money conclusions.
